ABOUT ZANZIBAR

- Geography

Zanzibar is an archipelago located off the coast of East Africa in the Indian Ocean, known for its pristine white sandy beaches, vibrant coral reefs, and historic Stone Town, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

- Cuisine Zanzibari cuisine is a rich fusion of African, Arab, Indian, and Persian flavors, featuring an array of spices such as cloves, cinnamon, cardamom, and chili. It showcases a variety of dishes including pilau (spiced rice), biryani, seafood delicacies, coconut-based curries, and traditional Zanzibari snacks like samosas and mandazi (fried dough).

- Language The primary languages spoken in Zanzibar are Swahili and English. Swahili, also known as Kiswahili, is the national language of Tanzania and serves as the lingua franca in Zanzibar, while English is widely understood and used for official and business purposes.

- Climate Zanzibar has a tropical climate with two distinct seasons. The dry season, from June to October, brings warm temperatures, low humidity, and pleasant breezes, making it a popular time for tourism. The wet season, from November to May, experiences higher temperatures, occasional rainfall, and higher humidity, but it still offers lush green landscapes and opportunities for indoor activities.
